Is Bedini a good AMP?

For Quad users Bedini is back in business. In the mid eighties I had a 25/25 driving my ESL63. A fantastic amp but with limited power, in the same league as the Electrocompaniet Two Channel Power Amplifier, Levinson ML2 and Berning EA230. Price has not been disclosed yet. Hope it's an improved version.

Who makes Bedini amps?

Let's start with the Bedini. These products were made by two brothers, John and Gary Bedini, back in the the 70's. Interesting bit of folk lore about these was that John designed the amps to mimic the waveform of an EL-34 based tube amp, while another is the amp was designed with schematics taken from a DOD tank turret controller.

Which Bedini AMP has the best signal to noise ratio?

The Bedini 25 is the king of the Bedini line up because it has the best signal to noise ratio of all the Bedini amps. One small handicap here was the 25 was half the wattage of the other two amps, but it was also twice as sensitive. Second place: Forte Model 4a. Ok, now we can start to get into the meat of the differences.

How many Watts Does a Bedini mkII have?

It does 25 watts into 8 ohms and 50 watts into 4 ohms. Unfortunately, the Bedini brothers, John and Gary both passed away on the same day, November 6, 2016.
