I have a Victron 5KVA 48/5000 Multiplus II inverted and a single Pylontech 48V,US3000 battery connected to it.

How do I connect a Master pylontech battery to a CCGX?

The battery communication is provided through a CANbus cable(usually the VE.CAN to BMS CAN Type-A cable) between the A/CAN port on the Master Pylontech battery and the BMS CAN port on the Cerbo GX, or the VE.CAN port on the Cerbo-S GX and CCGX.

How many master batteries a pylontech inverter?

There is only 1 master battery as indicated on the drawing you attached. Cable to inverter will vary according to the inverter. You should parallel the battery-to-inverter cables every 5 (37A discharge per battery x 5 = 185A) batteries if you are using std pylontech cables. This gives you 185A/2 per cable, within recommended std cable spec.
