

Are all lithium batteries compatible with Deye inverters?

Just so you know, not all lithium batteries are compatible with Deye inverters. For example, a 48V100Ah lithium battery cannot be connected because its maximum charging voltage of 58V is lower than 160V. A 768V280Ah lithium battery is incompatible because its maximum charging voltage of 876V is higher than 800V.

How many batteries can a Deye inverter use?

You can use 2512V 400Ah lithium batteries, connected to the 2 battery ports of the Deye inverter, with a capacity of $512 \times 400 = 204.8\text{kWh} \times 2 = 409.6\text{kWh} \approx 400\text{kWh}$. This way, 50kW of power can be output every hour for your load. If you run your electrical equipment all day, you need more battery power.

How much power does a Deye energy storage inverter produce?

It should be noted that: The Deye inverter provides 2 battery ports, and the maximum charge and discharge current of each port is 50A. Equivalent to $800\text{V} \times 50\text{A} = 40\text{kW}$ - $P=UI$ (power = voltage x current). If you connect both ports, a 50kW Deye energy storage inverter can output up to 80kW of power per hour.

Do Felicity batteries Support BMS comms?

Going to put this here since it could be of use to someone like @Sc00bs, or installers that happen to cross paths with batteries like these. The felicity batteries that seem to be sold under the 5star fivestar name locally appear to support BMS comms only with felicity's own inverters, Deye and Growatt (maybe limited to Spf 5000?).

Is a 768v280ah lithium battery compatible with a Deye inverter?

A 768V280Ah lithium battery is incompatible because its maximum charging voltage of 876V is higher than 800V. PVMars recommends choosing a lithium battery with a range of 512V to 614V to ensure a perfect match with your Deye inverter. After selecting the battery, please connect it according to the Deye inverter manual. It should be noted that:
