

Is pinesol better than pine Glo?

This can also be said between Pine-sol and Pine Glo. Both cleaners are good disinfectants, no doubt, but when diluted, PineSol still maintains its disinfecting power while Pine Glo loses some of those abilities. This means that Pine-sol is a better disinfectant than Pine Glo in equal quantity.

Are Pine Sol & pine Glo the same?

When it comes to cleaners and disinfectants, a common debate is if Pine SOL and Pine Glo are the same. They have very similar names, advertise a pine fragrance and are meant for similar purposes. The big obvious difference is the price. While the former is a worthwhile investment for a cleaning product, the latter is quite cost-effective.

Is Pine Sol a better disinfectant than pine Glo?

This means that Pine-sol is a better disinfectant than Pine Glo in equal quantity. Talking about disinfecting, another important thing to note between these two products is that Pine Sol is EPA approved to kill covid while Pine Glo is not.

What is the difference between Pine Sol and pine oil cleaner?

Pine sol is the go-to option if you want a cleaner for that. Another reason for its price tag. This could be the first difference you will notice between the two cleaners; you can smell the natural pine oil fragrance of Pine Sol even without opening the bottle. The pine oil is included in little quantity for scent.

Is Pine Sol a good product?

Pine Glo is strictly meant for those trying to make do with a small budget. It has some flaws but still works. However, if you can get Pine SOL, then do so as the added benefits more than justify its premium price. Is Pine SOL Flammable?
