

Are solar panels free?

The Department of Energy is aware of claims of offers for free solar panels or that solar companies must provide solar panels for free if requested. However, the federal government does not offer any programs for free home solar panel installations nor does the government require companies to grant solar panels for free to customers.

What do solar companies mean by 'free'?

What Do Solar Companies Mean by 'Free'? When companies advertise free solar, they are generally referring to either a solar lease or solar power purchase agreement (PPA). In both cases, a company installs solar photovoltaic (PV) panels on your home, often with no up-front costs and no money down.

Does the federal government offer free solar panels?

The federal government does not provide free solar panels, but does provide incentives that reduce the cost of going solar. You can go solar with no upfront cost by taking out a $0-down loan, signing a lease or PPA, or subscribing to a community solar farm. Of the no upfront cost solutions, $0-down loans provide the best long-term savings.

What is free solar?

"Free" solar usually refers to solar leasing and solar power purchase agreements (PPAs), which typically require little to no money up front. Solar leasing and PPAs offer an alternative path to solar for homeowners who don't want to -- or who can't afford to -- purchase a solar system, but they're not exactly free.

Should you sign up for free solar panels?

Unsolicited leads from door-to-door salespeople: If a salesperson knocks on your door offering free solar panels, don't sign up for anything until you carefully research the company and its products. High upfront costs and hidden fees: Avoid signing a contract for "free" solar panel systems if a high upfront cost is still involved.

Are free solar panels a lie?
